A New Anthology of Ocean-Themed Poetry – a Perfect Summer Gift

Houston, August 1, 2019

A new anthology collects the verse of renowned poets with the voices of select modern writers, all inspired by the ceaseless splendor of the sea. “You Can Hear the Ocean: An Anthology of Classic and Current Poetry” has been published in paperback and Kindle editions by Brighten Press.

With its gorgeous orange sunset cover, “You Can Hear the Ocean” makes a thoughtful present to give a vacation host to say thank you for the summer memories. It’s also an excellent beach read.

“I’ve always been obsessed with the ocean,” said anthology editor Gene Hult. “The summers and holidays I spend at the seashore are the happiest times of my life. I wanted to share that joy with everyone who has a personal attachment to the beach, through the words of the greatest poets in history as well as talented contemporary writers.”

The classic poems collected inside are from famous poets including Dante, Browning, Byron, Dickinson, Emerson, Hawthorne, Kipling, Lawrence, Longfellow, Millay, Moore, Pound, Rilke, Shakespeare, Stevens, Stevenson, Teasdale, Tennyson, Whitman, Wilde, Wordsworth, and Yeats. Current writers are represented with more than 30 of their poems about the sea.

The 156-page anthology also contains a reading guide for teachers and book groups, and biographies of the poets inside.
